Each site offers a unique glimpse into its rich heritage and natural splendor:

The construction of the Church of St. Nicholas, funded by the Municipality of Prčanj, began in 1735, and the entire monastery was completed in 1739. In the courtyard of the Franciscan Monastery of St. Nicholas in Prčanj, on June 13, 1848, a national assembly was held, whose participants initiated the idea of Yugoslavism for the first time in history.

The small town of Prčanj was a powerful maritime center in the 19th century and financially supported Kotor. Franciscans resided in the monastery, and there was a primary school lasting four years and a Maritime School for captains lasting 18 months.

The monastery's altar, crafted in Venice in 1766, stands as a testament to the region's artistic legacy.

Once a center of education and maritime training, the monastery now stands as a sanctuary of spirituality and cultural preservation.

Our Team

Where everyone finds their place...

At our hotel, we've built a warm and welcoming environment that thrives on creativity and teamwork. Our dedicated team members put their hearts into crafting an extraordinary luxury experience that feels like a natural extension of our surroundings and the local community. Excellence, for us, isn't just about spoiling our guests; it's about turning every moment at the hotel into a work of art.

From our friendly front office to our talented chefs, everyone on our team is genuinely passionate about giving you the best service while embracing the beauty of the natural world that surrounds our little haven. We're all about sustainability, too, weaving eco-friendly practices into every aspect of our daily operations. By supporting local businesses and using energy-efficient technologies, we're not just reducing our ecological impact - we're also nurturing the well-being of our wonderful community.
